RENEW BATTLE ON LIVING COST IN CONGRESS

...dministration Bills and CIO Wage Boost Demand Renew Controversy.

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Dec. 3—An ...inistration move to submit its ...on the most controversial parts of President Truman's ...ilization program and an impending CIO wage boost drive ...ached off a new cost of living battle in congress today.

Although Senator Taft (R-Ohio) ...nheld comment until he has had a chance to study the legislation involved, other Republicans made it plain that two promised measures covering the price-wage, rationing and allocation field will face prompt opposition.

At the same time, the CIO announcement that its unions will seek a "third round" of pay increases in negotiations beginning early next year was described as "expected" by some Republicans, but they said this development will complicate congressional consideration of cost of living proposals. Some Democrats on the other hand took the view that it might speed action on Capitol Hill.

Don't Expect Early Action

However, CIO President Philip Murray said in announcing the new campaign late yesterday that he and his lieutenants look for no action by congress during the special session to keep prices down.

Meeting newsmen after a day-long session with his nine vice presidents, the white haired union leader declared that the CIO "is determined to lighten the unbearable economic burden which has been imposed upon the people."

"To this end," the formal statement continued, "the CIO and its affiliated unions shall proceed through the process of collective bargaining to obtain substantial wage increases for the American workers to restore their loss in real incomes suffered through inflation. * * *

"In the face of the present level of profits for American industry, this objective can be achieved without any justifiable increase in prices."

Some Raises Obtained

Some of the 6,000,000 CIO members already have negotiated third round pay hikes and other unions are in the process.

Murray said he hopes it will not be "necessary" to have strikes to win the increases and added that each international union will decide how much to seek.

While he was speaking, the CIO National Marine Engineers Beneficial Association, representing about 40,000 seamen, asked 48 steamship companies on the Atlantic and gulf coasts for a 15 per cent basic wage rate increase. The demand was made in New York.

The CIO-Amalgamated Clothing Workers and the U. S. Clothing Manufacturers association already have agreed on a 12½-cent "third round" raise for about 150,000 workers on men's and boys' garments, effective December 15. These workers received 15 cents in the fall of 1945, and 12½ cents a year ago.

Generally, the postwar wage increase pattern has been for 18½ cents an hour in the first eight or ten months after V-J day, and another 15 cents last spring.

And almost simultaneously with Murray's announcement, responsible administration officials disclosed privately that two bills have been drafted to:

1. Provide for price-wage controls as well as authority to ration scarce cost of living items and critical materials, if voluntary price and distribution agreements cannot be obtained.

2. Extend for two years the second decontrol act of 1947 and broaden it to include controls and allocation powers over steel and iron, grains and transportation facilities.

Wreck Killing Twenty Speeds French Action

By The Associated Press

PARIS, Dec. 3—Five thousand steel-helmeted police and mobile guards were stationed around the chamber of national assembly today while that body continued debate on the government's five-section strike control bill, two sections of which were newly approved.

Official reports that saboteurs caused a fatal train wreck on the Paris-Lille line sped the deputies indorsement of the first two sections dealing with sabotage and agitators.

The guards were placed about the assembly chamber before today's session opened. It was the first time police had worn helmets during the current wave of disorders.

The Champs Elysee was blocked off at Place Franklin Delano Roosevelt (Rond Point) and in the Place Concorde.

Reports 20 Killed

The deputies were told that saboteurs unbolted sections of track and thus derailed a mail train near Arras shortly after midnight. A railway official said at least 20 persons were killed.

After acting on the sabotage law, shortly before 9 a. m. the assembly recessed a session which had continued throughout the night, and prepared to reconvene at 4 p. m. to act on the last three parts of a five-section anti-strike law demanded by Premier Robert Schuman.

The first two sections of the measure, with which Premier Schuman intends to fight Communist-instigated strikes which have made 2,000,000 workers idle and which are strangling the whole French economy, were approved over the bitter opposition of the Communist deputies.

The first section, approved 402 to 183, suspends the present laws and penalties pertaining to sabotage. The second, approved 412 to 183, establishes penalties of up to 500,000 francs ($4,200) and jail sentences of five years for saboteurs or for anyone who "by threats of violence, blows or fraud" either starts strikes, keeps them going or prevents anyone working who wants to do so.

The section also broadens the definition of what constitutes sabotage.

Shortly before this morning's vote, the government accepted an amendment by Socialist Deputy Adrien Mabrut eliminating "false news, knowingly propagated" from the list of punishable methods of encouraging strikes.

Announces Wreck

During the hot debate on the sabotage measure, Finance Minister Rene Mayer rose dramatically and announced that saboteurs had unbolted sections of track and thus derailed the Paris-Arras mail train a short time before. He said seven persons died in the wreck. A railway official later said 20 were dead and 27 hospitalized.

There were some indications that the three-week-old wave of strikes was beginning to recede.

Labor Ministry sources estimated the number of strikers at under 2,000,000 for the first time in more than a week.

Even so, and before the reported train wreck at Arras, incidents of sabotage and of potential bloody violence appeared on the increase. Automobile workers on strike in Paris used a tractor to butt their way into a motor plant in an effort to eject police.

EMPIRE STEEL SOLD TO STUDEBAKER CO.

Automobile Company Buys Industry at Mansfield.

By The Associated Press

CLEVELAND, Dec. 3—Sale of Empire Steel Corp. of Mansfield to the Studebaker Corp. for $7,430,000, subject to approval of Empire stockholders, was announced here today by J. M. Hill, board chairman of Empire Steel.

In a 12-hour meeting that adjourned last midnight, Empire directors accepted the purchase offer of the South Bend, Ind., motor manufacturer for all of Empire Steel's assets and assumption of the Mansfield's firm's liabilities, Hill said.

The sale price is equal to about $63 for each of 117,919 shares of Empire capital stock before payment of expenses incident to the selling the luiqidation of Emiper. Empire stock was quoted yesterday at about $55 per share, compared with $14.50 at the end of 1946.

The Mansfield corporation, successor in 1933 to a company founded 35 years ago, manufactures a complete line of sheet steel, and has an annual capacity of 348,000 tons of steel ingots and 120,000 tons of hot-rolled annealed sheets.

Empire employs 1,100 workers and is the third largest employer in Mansfield.

Hill said the transaction is expected to insure a fully supply of steel for Studebaker's expanding automobile and truck production, despite the current shortage of steel.

SOVIET ARMED STRENGTH SET AT 4,050,000

Report Given by Committee Urging Prompt Granting of $590,000,000 Aid.

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Dec. 3 — The house foreign affairs committee, urging prompt action on $590,000,000 of stop-communism aid for Europe and China, said today that Soviet Russia has 4,050,000 men under arms.

In a formal report to the house, the committee said this estimate of Russian military strength was given it by the war department during consideration of foreign aid legislation.

House debate on the committee bill is to begin tomorrow with a vote likely early next week. The senate has passed a $597,000,000 bill for aid to France, Italy and Austria, as requested by the administration.

The foreign affairs committee said eight Soviet satellite states have 1,121,600 men in their armies and securities forces, while ground forces of free European states total 2,789,000.

It said the United States has 113,000 armed men in Europe and 258,000 in this country.

Warn Against "Trap"

"The Soviets," the report said, "have a clear and definite policy of attempting to prevent American aid to Europe or Asia, and a further policy of making such aid as ineffective and expensive as possible."

While the Russian plans "should not deter us from rendering necessary aid," the committee cautioned, "we must not fall into the Soviet trap of bleeding ourselves white economically through extended, expensive and ineffective aid plans. We should plan our aid to other countries so as to remain strong at home, while strengthening free nations for all eventualities."

The committee said the $590,000,000 aid it recommends for Austria, France, Italy and China "is consistent with this policy."

The point the aid bill supporters are seeking to make with less enthusiastic colleagues is that the Soviet Union has a total force already under arms more than a million men stronger than all the rest of Europe.

For that reason, they contend the administration should be given what it considers the minimum amount needed to keep France, Italy and Austria from "disintegrating" this winter.

Make 7 Million Cut

The Republican-dominated foreign affairs committee already has reduced the stop gap bill $7,000,000 below the figure President Truman asked and in addition said China should share some $60,000,000 of the total.

As passed by the senate, the interim aid program calls for help only for the three European countries. The objective is to tide them over with shipments of food, fuel and other essentials until congress can pass some long-range programs designed to bring about economic recovery in Europe.

LA MONDA TO HEAD NEW FIRE BUREAU

Deputy Sheriff Named Chief by Marshal Ray Gill.

Raymond LaMonda of 247 South State street, a Marion county deputy sheriff, has been appointed chief of a newly organized state arson bureau, State Fire Marshal Ray Gill of Richwood, announced today.

The new bureau operating in conjunction with the fire marshal's office and provided for under senate bill 179 passed by the last session of the legislature, will comprise five districts, Mr. Gill said. One of the districts will have Marion as headquarters.

Mr. LaMonda, as chief of the bureau with headquarters in Columbus, will coordinate the activities of the districts having under his control six supervisors, one for each of the five districts plus a man in the central office at Columbus.

Announcement of the appointment of the several district heads will be made shortly by the state fire marshal's office, as the new bureau is expected to be set up by the middle of December, Mr. Gill said.

The appointment as chief of the arson bureau was made from an eligiblity list derived from a civil service examination conducted several months ago. LaMonda's background for the criminal investigation includes eight years with the state highway patrol in additon to having served as a deputy sheriff in Marion county for the last three years.

Arabs, Jews Battle In "No Man's Land"

By The Associated Press

JERUSALEM, Dec. 3—Arabs and Jews fought with guns, grenades, knives and fire today in the no-man's land between Tel Aviv and Jaffa and the number killed since dawn yesterday in riots over the partition of Palestine was unofficially reported increased to 20.

Jerusalem was relatively quiet, although smoke still rose from fires kindled yesterday by Arabs starting a three-day strike throughout Palestine in protest to the United Nations decision to carve up the Holy Land.

The Associated Press's official count showed 12 Jews and eight Arabs killed, although the officially listed casualties showed but eight Jews and five Arabs slain. Police said "we don't know" and will not know for several days the extent of casualties.

Hundreds were wounded. Forty Jews and 20 Arabs were hospitalized with injuries up to noon, but the Arabs took most of their wounded to houses rather than hospitals. Tight curfews were imposed in some areas.

An informant in Tel Aviv said the Arab death toll in the battle between there and Jaffa "will be heavy."

First casualities from the Tel Aviv-Jaffa area were two members of Hagana, the Jewish defense force, killed and four others and a uniformed Jewish policeman wounded. A Jewish physician was reported slain and his companion was wounded.

Battle at Boundary

Arab and Jewish forces surged back and forth across the boundary between all-Jewish Tel Aviv and all-Arab Jaffa in bloody street fighting.

Firing and bomb explosions resounded throughout the day.

Leo Disentchik, Associated Press reporter at a vantage point above the battle area, said a spearhead of Arab tommygunners broke a cordon of Hagana, the underground Jewish defense force, near Carmel market and penetrated into the streets of Tel Aviv, wounding 18 Jews.

Arab fire from rooftops in Jaffa covered the charge. The action was visible from the main thoroughfare of Tel Aviv. The reporter said Hagana forces grouped and drove back the Arabs.

The government immediately clamped an around-the-clock curfew on the no-man's land region in the order between the two cities. A curfew on the Arab districts of Jerusalem, where renewed fighting also broke out this morning, was extended for another 24 hours. The Jerusalem curfew had been scheduled to end at noon.

U. S. Embassy Scene Of Demonstration

By The Associated Press

CAIRO, Dec. 3—A crowd of approximately 300 students assembled in front of the United States Embassy today, shouting "down with America" and throwing stones at American photographers who tried to take pictures from the roof of the building.

The students forced their way through reinforced police lines to reach the street before the British and American embassies. After shouting "Down with England" before the British embassy they screamed denunciations of America.

The demonstration appeared to be a double-barreled protest aimed both at American support of Palestine partition and the presence of British troops in the Suez Canal zone. No damage or casualties were reported.

FUGITIVE FLEES IN AIRPLANE

Federal Prisoner One of Five Who Fled from Missouri Medical Center.

By The Associated Press

SPRINGFIELD, Mo., Dec. 3—An airplane flown crazily away from a Springfield airport today led to speculation that one of the five federal prisoners who fled from the U. S. medical center had used the machine to further his escape.

This development in the search for the quintet who fled from the center last Monday night, came as officers searched the Ozarks for three of the escapees who terrorized a farm family last night and fled with three guns and a motor car.

No trace has been found of the fifth prisoner, Edward Harrison of Henrietta, Okla. The prisoners, mental cases, were described as potentially dangerous.

Steve Palenik, instructor for a flying service at Rogers airport, said the two-place plane had been rolled from a hangar at the field and took off soon after he had arrived at the airport at 6:30 a. m.

One of the five missing prisoners is Charles McIntosh of Dayton, O., who stole a plane while AWOL from the army in 1946 and flew it to many parts of the country although he had had no flight training.

Palenik said he heard a plane warming up as he arrived at the airport, but his suspicions were not aroused until the machine took off quickly without using the runway. He checked and found that one of the planes was missing.

He said it was an Aeronca Chief, cream colored with blue stripes. Its license number is NC 85858. It had about 20 gallons of gasoline, sufficient to give it a range of about 300 miles.

Last night three men, brandishing a knife and pitchfork, appeared at the farm home of 79-year-old Will Aven. They tied Aven's hands and feet and spent 45 minutes in the house changing clothes and searching for weapons.

Edna Owen, Aven's granddaughter, said she recognized the men from their pictures in the newspaper as the escapees, William Elmer McClellan, 23, Cumberland, Md.; Edward Elsbury, 21, Marianne Pa., and Charles R. Maley, 24, Springfield, O.

Miss Owen said that she ran upstairs and got a .22 rifle when the men entered. They pursued her, she added, and grabbed the gun before she could locate shells.

BEV KELLEY QUITS POST WITH CIRCUS

Delaware Man Resigns as Ringling Publicity Director.

Beverly Kelley, who has been publicity representative of Ringling Bros.-Barnum & Bailey circus since 1930, has announced his resignation, an Associated Press dispatch from Delaware reported today. He did not disclose his future plans or the reason for his resignation.

Now in Delaware after seeing the circus into winter quarters at Sarasota, Fla., Kelley said his decision was motivated by a desire to spend more time with his family and in the management of his furniture business in that city. His resignation was submitted when the circus season closed Nov. 23 and is effective Jan. 1.

Kelley became publicity director for the circus three years ago and since that time publicity material has been distributed from Delaware. The office there will be closed this month, it was announced.

Kelley's association with Ringling circus dates back to 1930 when he became radio publicity director. He continued in that position until 1933 when he resigned to enter other work. Five years later he again was placed in charge of radio publicity and con-

MAN INJURED IN ALTERCATION

Fight Over Taxi Fare Sends Passenger to Hospital; Driver Arrested.

One man is in City hospital with serious injuries and another faces two charges in municipal court today following an altercation last night between a taxi driver and a passenger.

The injured man is William O. Thompson, 27, of 370 Latourette street. He is reported to be suffering from a fracture of the jaw, cuts about the head and possible other injuries to be determined by an X-ray examination made this morning.

Facing charges in municipal court is Donald Sloan Jr., 18, of Delaware avenue, driver of a Safety Cab taxi.

Refused To Pay Fare

Police reported the altercation took place about 3 a. m. when Sloan delivered Thompson to the Latourette street address and the passenger refused to pay the 50 cent fare. Police said Thompson was intoxicated and that after an exchange of words he took a swing at Sloan.

The police report further showed that Sloan obtained an automobile jack from the rear of the taxi, with which he struck Thompson. After the scuffle Thompson made his way to the Glenwood school grounds. He was followed by Sloan who struck again, knocking Thompson down.

Police said Sloan then took Thompson's billfold and left the scene, going immediately to the police station where he reported the incident, turned in the billfold and asked for the arrest of Thompson. The billfold contained $37.

Police Investigate

Police began an investigation and found Thompson at 370 Latourette street where he lives with his uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. Russell Thompson. The Gunder ambulance was called and Thompson was taken to the hospital.

This morning Mrs. Russell Thompson filed charges in municipal court of assault with intent to kill and assault and battery against Sloan. When arraigned later in the morning he pleaded not guilty and was released under $500 cash bond. No date was set for the hearing by Acting Judge Paul G. Simpson, occupying the bench in the absence of Judge W. Dexter Hazen.

DULLES, MARSHALL AIDE, TO VISIT PARIS

By The Associated Press

LONDON, Dec. 3—John Foster Dulles, Republican party advisor to Secretary of State Marshall at the Foreign ministers' council, plans to go to Paris tomorrow to consult French leaders on French foreign policy in relation to the present internal crisis.

Authoritative informants described Dulles' trip as a "personal" fact-finding mission which has the approval of Marshall.

The council, meeting half an hour earlier today, was near the end of its debate on preparation of a German peace treaty, but no nearer an agreement on critical issues than when the discussions started eight days ago.

HEAR MESSAGE FROM HERBERT

Governor Adds Several Points to Program of "Error Correcting" Session.

By The United Press

COLUMBUS, Dec. 3 — Gov. Thomas J. Herbert today recommended to a special session of the state legislature convening here that wage increases of $10 a month be made to all state employes whose annual base pay does not exceed $3,000 a year.

The governor requested the appropriation only be made for the year 1948 and should not be retroactive. He estimated the raise for approximately 25,000 state employes would cost the state $3,000,000 a year and suggested that $2,000,000 come from the general revenue fund and $1,000,000 from highway, liquor and other special funds.

The governor's recommendations also included the submitting of additional taxes to the electors of subdivisions other than school districts at general, special or primary elections at any time prior to June 1, 1949. It would also authorize the making of such levy and prescribe the percentage of favorable votes required for passage of the levy.

Would Boost School Pay

Changes in teacher's contracts without the imposition of additional duties, which would enable local boards of education to increase teachers salaries, were also included in his recommendations.

The governor announced he would personally address a joint session of the senate and house at 1:30 p. m. His message will ask for appropriations totaling about $29,500,000 and other major law changes.

The session was first called to correct an error made by the legislature last spring which deprived the highway department and townships of road construction funds. Its agenda subsequently pyramided to 11 points.

Governor Herbert indicated, as he put the finishing touches on his message to the legislators, that he was considering a second expansion of the sessions' agenda. The decision, he said, would be made before the message was delivered to the general assembly.

Items Added Yesterday

Herbert added two items to the agenda a day before the session began. He asked the legislature to give specific authority to local boards of education to increase school teachers' salaries during the terms of their contracts. The governor also recommended that the majority required for approval of special municipal tax levies, he would suggest that the relaxation of the required majority be extended only until June 1, 1949.

Legislative acts to carry out all the governor's recommendations were drawn up by Herbert's aides for submission to the assembly immediately after the governor's message. Some leaders hoped that the action would reduce the time required for the session to two days.

Program Details

Major points of Herbert's program included:

▶A grant of $20,000,000 to the veterans' bonus retirement fund for bonds. Herbert said this would eliminate the need of any property taxes before 1954 to meet bond payments.

▶Repeal of the one-cent a gallon liquid fuel tax made necessary by approval at the Nov. 4 election of a constitutional amendment earmarking its revenue for highway and related uses only.

▶An increase of one-cent in the present three-cent per gallon gasoline tax to equalize the loss in revenues by the repeal of the liquid fuel tax.

▶Appropriations of $2,750,000 to the welfare department to meet increased operating cost, $3,000,000 to the department for poor relief matching funds and $750,000 supplemental grants to other state departments.

▶Reestablishment of the $9,600,000 road construction funds eliminated by a legislative error last spring.

The session should run its course smoothly unless opposition develops to the grant to the bonus fund from the surplus state revenues or the proposed increase in the gasoline tax.

Your Good Health

By DR. HERMAN N. BUNDESEN

The Body's Need for Fluids

Following operation, the role of the doctor is to do everything possible to hasten the patient's recovery. One of the things he does—and one which is easily carried out—is the giving of an adequate amount of fluid.

The body's need for fluids is fundamental. Though we are air-breathing creatures, every cell in our bodies must be constantly bathed in fluid. Without it, they can thrive no more than a fish can out of water.

The amount of fluid required by the body in health varies with age, sex, and climate. In general, an adult needs about four to six pints over a 24-hour period; a child of ten, three pints, and younger children less in proportion.

In those who are ill, more is required because fluid is being lost from the stomach or through the skin in increased amounts. Thus, for an adult, as much as eight to ten pints may be necessary, daily to replace the fluids being lost.

A patient who is not getting enough fluids feels thirsty, has a dry tongue, and is not excreting sufficient fluids through the kidneys. A patient who is getting too much fluid will have edema or a collection of fluids in the tissues.

Fluids may be given to the patient by mouth, through the rectum, or by injection into a vein, or under the skin. Whenever possible, they should be given by mouth. However, if the patient is unconscious, is vomiting, or has paralysis of the bowel, fluids cannot be given by mouth. They may be given by rectum if the patient is unconscious or vomiting. Where his condition makes it impossible to give the fluids either by mouth or by rectum, injection under the skin or into a vein is necessary.

When a patient requires blood or blood serum, these substances are given by injection into a vein.

In general, a patient who can take fluids by mouth may be given the fluids in any form he desires, that is, water, milk, tea, carbonated beverages, or fruit juices. Whatever fluid is given, however, must be administered in sufficient quantity and contain the right amount of salt.

As a general rule, when fluids are given by injection into a vein, the mixture consists of a solution of sugar, glucose and salt.

Blood is given when the patient is suffering from a loss of blood and in sufficient quantity to replace the blood lost. Blood plasma, or the fluid part of blood, is given when the patient is suffering from a loss of plasma as the result of shock due to a severe burn, injury, or extensive operation. It may also be used as a substitute for whole blood when the latter is not immediately available.

Marion Co. Beekeepers Hear Two Speakers

Guest speakers at a meeting of the Marion County Beekeepers Monday night at the Y.M.C.A. were M. J. Deyell, publisher of the beekeepers magazine, "Gleanings," and Walter Thomas, apiarist for A. I. Root, both of Medina, O.

Mr. Thomas talked on winter packing and gave figures showing results of 12 years experience in packing and not packing. He said his experience with pollen substitute showed much stronger colonies ready for fruit bloom.

Mr. Deyell spoke on the needs of bees, and classed these needs under three things, 1) food, honey, pollen, water and salt, 2) comb space, and 3) protection. Mr. Deyell said there is only one colony of bees to each 250 acres in the United States, one colony to each 4,500 acres in Canada, and one colony to each 90 acres in Ohio. He said the total number of colonies in the U.S. is 6,000,000, and that the government is asking for at least a 3 per cent increase in 1948. He declared that we need more beekeepers and more uniform methods of packaging and shipping bees, better queens and better bee breeding.

Christmas arrangements made by members of Garden Clubs of Ohio will be displayed before the meeting and later will be sent to one of the local hospitals. Exhibitors competing for the 1947 green ribbon award must present their ribbons at this time, it was announced.

Women's Memories Surpass Men's, College Survey Shows

By The United Press

CLEVELAND, Dec. 3—Women are far better experts on figures—arithmetical—than men, a five-year survey conducted at Fenn college here disclosed today.

What's more, Dr. Clyde J. Crobaugh, statistics professor who conducted the survey, said women's memories in most other fields are far superior to those of men.

"Most men questioned in the survey didn't even know their neck size, their shirt size or what size shoe they take," Dr. Crobaugh said.

The professor has the figures to prove his points. They were compiled over the five-year period in his statistics class.

The survey started merely to settle a class argument between the boys and the coeds as to which group had the better memories. "I didn't know then that it would take so much work to settle the argument," Crobaugh said, "but we kept at it and now have countless statistics charts to show that a woman knows her figures. Make no mistake about it."

The figure expert admitted that the men were ahead on questions about baseball players and scores but added that "very few of them could remember their wedding anniversaries, the names of many of their relatives, the sizes of their clothes, just to name a few items."

The Fenn statistics, however, indicated that a woman remembers countless details of any home she visits and can give a fairly accurate description of any person she has ever met, plus a word picture of the clothing the person was wearing the last time they met.

But, said Doctor Crobaugh, "it's in the field of monetary figures that the little woman really shines.

"We found that its the wife who handles numbers and figures in the average home. She gets the money and controls the budget. She also does 89 per cent of the buying in department stores. Is it any wonder she has the best head for figures?"

What it all means, Dr. Crobaugh said, may be that women remember too much. "Their heads are filled with a confetti of old telephone numbers, dimensions, recipes and impressions. They never have but need badly a mental house-cleaning."

RAY T. MILLER IS CANDIDATE

Former Cleveland Mayor Enters Race for Democratic Governor Nomination.

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., Dec. 3—Ray T. Miller, former mayor of Cleveland, had his hat in the ring today for the 1948 Democratic nomination for governor and there were indications he might go into the convention with the backing of the state central committee.

Miller, one-time Notre Dame football player and a power in Cuyahoga county politics for years, announced his condidacy last night at a banquet held in his honor by Walter F. Heer, Franklin county (Columbus) Democratic chairman.

"What about this?" Heer asked. "Are you going to be a candidate for governor? I am interested and our (county executive) committee is interested."

"In answering your question, I will be a candidate for governor," Miller replied.

There was round after round of applause from the 100 Democrats attending. Among the group were State Chairman Albert A. Horstman of Dayton; State Auditor Joseph T. Ferguson and County Chairmen Clarence Motz of Summit county (Akron), James R. Devitt of Cuyahoga county (Cleveland) and Francis A. Durbin of Allen county (Lima).

Miller's step into the gubernatorial arena received prompt official indorsement from the Franklin county executive committee headed by Heer. Several days ago, Miller's "home" county, Defiance, endorsed him for governor—and at the same time asked him to run.

These displays of Miller's organization strength were interpreted in some quarters as presaging the recommendation of his candidacy by the five-member "screening" committee of the Ohio Association of Democratic County chairmen, possibly later this week at Akron. The committee originally was scheduled to meet in Youngstown.

If Miller gets such a recommendation, it would be tantamount to endorsement by Horstman's state committee.

The biggest question still unanswered in what now is a four-man race for the Democratic gubernatorial nomination was, what former Governor Frank Lausche of Cleveland intends to do.

Frazier Reams of Toledo, former state welfare director; Robert Cox of Millersburg, and Joseph Torok of Youngstown already are avowed candidates.

Lausche, who lost his bid for reelection to Republican Thomas J. Herbert in the last election; Auditor Ferguson and Mayor Thomas J. Burke of Cleveland also have been mentioned as possible candidates.

Miller said he decided to enter the race "during the past three or four days in response to urgings from almost all of the 88 counties in Ohio."

LEGISLATE ON WEATHER

By The Associated Press

TOLEDO, O., Dec. 3—Folks who don't like the weather, should see their city councilmen. Toledo aldermen last night adopted a resolution against rain or snow here next Friday and Saturday, and also "banned" temperatures colder than 60 above. The reason? Saturday's Glass Bowl football game.

The Emergency Aid Bill

THE senate's 83-6 vote on the $597,000,000 emergency aid for Europe is a fair measure of the near-unanimity with which the nation regards this vital program. To France and Italy, bedeviled by strikes and Communist sabotage, it will be an earnest of our intentions, a reassurance that help is on the way.

The measure now goes to the house, where the foreign affairs committee has reported out a similar measure, although its recommendations include $60,000,000 for China, at best a dubious allocation.

Seven months ago it seemed that aid for Europe would pass congress only by the narrowest margin, if at all. But during the summer scores of congressmen, traveling abroad, received a new conception of the urgency of the need. It was agreed that aid must be forthcoming regardless of any nation's internal regime. It shouldn't be forgotten that the Marshall plan, as originally conceived, extended to all nations, Communist and non-Communist, and the Harriman report is based on free commerce between eastern and western Europe.

In distributing this aid, the senate provides that the recipients must be made fully aware that it is a gift of the United States. It is fair that ample publicity be given this fact, but it should be done tactfully and not in such a way as to engender unspoken resentment. It is not charity we are giving Europe. It is an investment in future well-being in which our stake is just at great as those who receive the aid.

Is This Economic Appeasement?

HAROLD STASSEN has joined Representative Taber in calling for an end to American exports to Russia and Russian-dominated countries. When two Republicans of such disparate views agree, that in itself is news.

But some more impressive facts can be marshaled in opposition to the subject on which they agree. Since its present policy of allowing Russian exports has been labeled economic appeasement, the state department has called attention to its reasons for permitting these shipments.

By laying down a program of economic sanctions against Russia and her satellites, we might seal off eastern Europe from western Europe with a declaration of economic war. There is still a vast commerce moving through the so-called iron curtain, and if it were cut off the cost of the Marshall plan would soar beyond any figure yet mentioned. For the first nine months of 1947 our exports to Russia were 1.1 per cent of the total, while Russia's shipments to us were double its receipts.

Those who take their stand with Stassen and Taber should consider the relative cost of providing western Europe with American machinery and Czech machinery, American coal and Polish coal. The countries of eastern Europe have to export in order to live. The Russians might have to permit them to trade, however much they dislike the idea.

This isn't a subject to be considered in an atmosphere of emotionalism or a feeling of loathing for communism. The state department's reasons for pursuing its present policy deserve as much publicity as the speeches of those opposing it. And most of all, it isn't a matter which should become a subject of domestic politics.

Island Laboratory

IN THE announcement that Eniwetok atoll is to be used as a testing base for atomic devices, it was pointed out that research would be carried out in "peaceful as well as in military applications of atomic energy."

However, Senator McMahon, author of the atomic energy act, said the Eniwetok project was "the natural, reasonable development of atomic energy in view of world conditions today and the refusal of the Russians to accept a good plan for control." The implication that can be read into this is that atomic weapons will be the prime concern of the Eniwetok researchers, and any peaceful applications so much lagniappe. Many believe all atomic research should be abandoned. The blast at Alamogordo lifted the lid of a Pandora's box of evils that could one day leave the world in desolation. But it never has been mankind's way to turn from the unknown, to ignore its challenges. The urge to probe and seek has brought man, for better or worse, to his present state. By one means or another, the atom's secrets will be revealed, unless a chain reaction brings a sudden and unanticipated end to all research.

Scanning the Record

By George E. Sokolsky

State Reestablished After 2,000 Years.

THE United Nations have, at long last, actually reached a decision on a major question: They partitioned Palestine among the Jews, Arabs and Christians. For, it must not be forgotten that the partition recognizes the special nature of the places sacred to Christianity in this region.

The Moslem world voted with a fair degree of solidarity against partition. Some countries with sizeable Moslem populations, such as the Philippines and the Soviet Union, voted for partition, while Greece, with a negligible Mohammedan population, voted along with the Arabs.

SOKOLSKY

Thus, a Jewish political state has been reestablished after 2,000 years of intermittent effort. It is the most persistent nationalistic struggle in history. No defeat, no suffering, no torture dampened its ardor. The Jewish state will now sit among the United Nations whose creation it is.

So far as the United Nations itself is concerned, its authority is now at stake. Having brought a new state into existence, it cannot permit that state to abort. In the instance of Hindustan and Pakistan, the United Nations was not a factor. Those states came into existence by treaty with the British commonwealth, whose possession they were. The United Nations recognized an accomplishment.

In the instance of Palestine, it is the United Nations which created two countries, Jewish Palestine and Arab Palestine, with enclaves of Christian holy places. It is the United Nations which drew the curious map partitioning the country. It is the United Nations which sends a commission to these countries to set up governments and which will undoubtedly, pass on their bona fides. Finally, it must be the task of the United Nations to see to it that Arab does not destroy Jew nor Jew the Arab.

And there, of course, is the gist of the matter: The Arab and the Jew must re-learn to live together in peace and to work together and to benefit from each other's toil. The Jew brought into Palestine, beginning with the Chovevei Zion colonies in the 1880's, a European standard of living. From the very first of modern Zionist efforts, Palestine did not attract the Jewish business man nor the Jewish intellectual. There have, of course, been startling exception to that generalization, but the generalization will stand, because the overwhelming migration of Jews to Palestine has been workers who transformed themselves into farmers. And the curious fact is that the European Jew who, in the countries of his nativity, knew no land labor, became in Palestine a highly skilled and productive agriculturalist. During the years of Hitler's power over Europe, many extraordinarily skilled scientists and intellectuals took refuge in Palestine and, together with the large American-financed Hebrew university on Mount Scopus, laid the foundation of a high culture.

Arab Rulers' Chief Fear

The Arabs in the Palestinian and adjacent regions live on a frightfully low standard of life and in trivial obscurantism. The social conflict between Europe and Asia, rather than the religious conflict between Judaism and Islam, arouses such antagonisms as were evident at Lake Success. The Arab rulers fear the rising standard of living and the westernization of their own people more than they do the presence of an increasingly large Jewish population. Having for centuries, for instance, kept their womenfolk as chattel, they fear the emancipation by imitation of their womenfolk and the alterations in their family system that are inevitable in marriages of free choice and in women who earn their own livings as teachers, nurses, stenographers, sales clerks, etc. They fear that the reforms that Ataturk so successfully brought to Turkey will reach the entire Arabic world through the Jews—who are Europeans by birth, habit and culture.

Killing each other will help neither Jew nor Arab. The gangs of the Mufti and the terrorism of the Irgun—which, starting as a patriotic movement has become a racket—will serve neither Jew nor Arab. What is required now is calm judgment and honest effort. The partition can be made to work and Jew and Arab can share in the benefits. In fact, from the long-range view, the benefits to the Arabs can be greater and more realistic—for the presence of the Jew will raise the Arab's standards of life. It will take time and patience.

Prayer the Answer To Traffic Jams?

"The New York traffic problem could be solved," declares a Manhattan minister, "if every taxi driver, bus driver and motorist would stop for a moment of prayer when the light changes instead of nervously honking their horns."

Yes, and we wouldn't have to worry about inflation if every one realized how little his work was actually worth and refused to take any more.

It's not that I doubt the efficacy of prayer. It's just that traffic jams are a little out of its line.

Faith may remove mountains, but something more potent is needed where truck drivers are concerned.

Between the time the light turns green and the man back of you sits down on his horn has been termed the briefest possible moment.

If the average driver takes his hand off his horn in such a situation, it is only a brief pause for ancestry identification.

You frequently see people in a traffic jam moving their lips . . . but hardly ever in prayer.

Real Issues at London

By Raymond Moley

THE basic economic struggle in London between the U. S. and the U. S. S. R. is not revealed in the speeches of Marshall and Molotov. But it is likely to delay not prevent constructive results.

That struggle is between the Russian desire to delay the peace and get more work days from the German prisoners of war in Russia on one hand and, on the other, the American desire to attain a peace which will cost American taxpayers the lowest possible amount over the next few years. Therefore, the issue of the eastern boundaries of Germany offers the best means by which the Russians can delay the peace, and it is also the most vital point in determining future American payments for the support of a new Germany.

MOLEY

The east is the breadbasket of all German. For every 10 miles that the eastern border can be pushed back toward Russia, Americans will save many thousands of relief dollars. Hence, Molotov will use this American objective as valuable bargaining material.

Some Favorable Signs

The points of agreement, however, are heartening, as well as unexpected. Undoubtedly, the talk of a separate peace with western germany had its effect upon the Soviet high command. The Molotov proposals are intended to end such talk and they may well succeed in that respect. A separate peace would be an extremely expensive peace to America. It would also have a depressing effect, economically and psychologically, upon Germans. Molotov, therefore, has offered a concession of real value to the western powers while by his stand on the eastern boundary, he has retained the power to delay the peace.

The agreement that a German government be set up and a peace be signed by that government is a long step forward. The final peace, therefore, will not be a wholly imposed peace. Germans will have something to say and may take some time saying it. This will suit Russia, while it will also hold American interest in the meantime.

In setting up a German government it seems likely that general elections will be permitted. The only alternative would be a federal government created by representatives of the various zones or by the states within those zones. Russia is thus confronted by a choice between general elections, which would certainly reveal no great Communist strength, and the creation of a federal government in which the great majority of the zones and states would be favorable to the west.

Germans, even in the east, are not likely to vote in a way pleasing to Russia. The ancient enmity is too deep and the wounds of Russian occupation too painful for that.

Reasons for Hope

In any event, the reports from London are sufficiently encouraging to end fears that this might be the last meeting of the foreign ministers. Both Marshall and Bidault have shown that the look forward to future meetings, because they have suggested that commissions be created on the boundary issue which will report later to the foreign ministers.

The problems thus created in making a German peace cannot be solved now, but the machinery may be created to that end.

TEN YEARS AGO

It was Friday, Dec. 3, 1937.

Albert Marinelli, Tammany leader, submitted his resignation as New York county clerk to Gov. Herbert H. Lehman in the face of charges made by Republican Prosecutor-Elect Thomas E. Dewey that he was unfit for office. The letter was sent two days after Marinelli was called upon to answer charges that he was a "political ally of racketeers, harbored a federal fugitive and consorted with known criminals."

Mrs. Morris S. Baker, 50, died at her home on Blaine avenue.

After a spurt in building activities here the week previous when permits for construction estimated at $11,710 had been issued by City Clerk Keller, there was a decided slump with the week's permits totaling only $415.

Palestine and the Future

By Stewart Alsop

WASHINGTON, Dec. 3 — The dramatic decision in the United Nations to partition tiny Palestine into Jewish and Arab states was a beginning and not an end. No man can pretend to see in detail where that beginning may lead. What follows is an attempt to summarize the conflicting forecasts of the general shape of Palestine's future by two observers thoroughly qualified to speak. The first forecast is that of a Zionist, a native of Palestine, and one of the most brilliant of the leaders of the Jewish Agency, which will form the heart of the new Jewish government. The second is that of an expert on the Middle East, no Zionist, who has devoted much of his life to a study of the strange complex pattern of Middle Eastern politics.

ALSOP

Both are agreed on at least one point — before there is peace in the Holy Land, there will be more bloodshed. The Zionist agrees that there may even be bloodshed within the Jewish community itself, since he does not entirely rule out the possibility of a violent bid for power by the right-wing terrorist groups. Yet he believes that the Jewish Agency's military arm, the Haganah, can easily deal with any such attempt. And he is confident that by the time the Jewish state is due to come into official existence, the Jewish government will already be a going concern, probably under the leadership of the wise and aging Chaim Weizmann.

Real Threat To Existence

The real threat to that government's continued existence will come of course, from the large Arab minority within the Jewish state, from the new Arab state which the United Nations has brought into existence, and from the surrounding Arab nations. The Zionist leader believes that King Abdulla of Transjordan will almost certainly gain control of the Arab fragment of Palestine. He reports that the British and American governments, and the Jewish Agency as well, have quietly let Abdulla know that his ambitions to add the Arab area to his own somewhat sleazy kingdom will not be viewed with disfavour. Under any circumstances, there is little to stand in Abdullah's way, since he has the only really effective armed force in the Middle East, in the army trained by the fabulous British soldier of fortune, Glubb Pasha.

Because of these ambitions, Abdulla has been notably less fanatical about partition than the leaders of other Arab states. Yet even with Abdulla in control of Arab Palestine, there will be no real peace. This is underlined by the fact that Adbulla's chief henchman in Arab Palestine, Toukan, the mayor of the large Arab town of Nablus, has already declared a "jihad," or holy war against the Jews. Yet the Zionist leader is confident that there will be no massive, organized assault on the new Jewish state. Arab action will, rather, be confined to bloody sporadic raids on Jewish settlements, which the Zionist leader expects to start almost immediately.

He is confident that the Haganah can deal with these attacks. The Haganah is now being expanded and reorganized to form a really effective striking force.

Counter-Move Probable

If the worst comes to the worst, the Zionist believes that a spectacular counter-move by the Haganah, for which tentative plans are even now being laid, will silence the Arabs. The Haganah has already done something of the kind, when Arab attacks against the Jews started last summer. The Haganah immediately put to death eleven Arabs, including the ringleaders of the disorders, and the attacks ceased immediately. Some such determined counter-move on a far larger scale, the Zionist leader believes, will have the same result. Then the Jews will be able to turn to the tack of peacably building their new nation.

That is a Zionist forecast of what lies ahead for the new state. The non-Zionist Middle Eastern expert considers this forecast vastly optimistic. He agrees that an organized Arab military assault on the Jewish State is unlikely. But he believes that the ferocious resentment against partition in the whole Arab world is vastly underestimated in the United States. He is certain that the United Nations Palestine Commission will be confronted with growing chaos from the day of its arrival. Sooner or later the commission will be forced to report back to the security council that the situation is wholly out of hand, and that the partition of Palestine can only be imposed by armed force. And what, he asks, happens then?

He is convinced, like most observers of events in the Middle East, that the Soviet Union is determined eventually to control this rich strategic area. He believes that the chaos which lies ahead will present the Soviet Union with its greatest opportunity to fish in the troubled Middle Eastern waters. Already there have been reports that the Soviets have been playing both ends against the middle, supplying the Arabs with arms, and infiltrating agents into Jewish Palestine from Rumania. If troops are to go to Palestine, Soviet troops will go too. And there is little doubt that the Soviet contingent would consist of a very special type of soldier. It was for such reasons that one group in the state department has fought the United Nations settlement.

Only time will tell which of these projections of the future of tragic Palestine is the more accurate. One thing is certain—there is more trouble ahead. The only question is, how much trouble, and for how long?

Love and Pickets

This department hasn't been intrigued by anything in years as much as it has by the case of a New York woman who, claiming that her sweetie-pie wasn't living up to his promise to wed her, picketed his home. She marched up and down before the house bearing the equivalent of "Unfair" banners. The idea opens infinite possibilities in the world of romance.

* * *

It may soon become common to see a Romeo walking the beat with a "Locked Out" sign across his back and some Juliet pounding the pavement with a banner proclaiming that she is being exploited.

* * *

It may be difficult to tell from a couple's actions whether they are making love or just going through arbitration proceedings.

* * *

Who will be able to observe any boy and girl and say for certain whether they are going together or just talking over their latest jurisdictional dispute.

* * *

The way is opened, it seems to us, for sympathetic walkouts by men who have been true and by women who are never sure whether they got their man through love or on a technicality. In no time at all a girl who has thrown one over for a new one after a hard battle may be charged with going around with a strike breaker and a "scab."

* * *

Where will this picket idea in romance end? Can Washington be asked to take over a love affair?

* * *

Will the Administration be expected to operate a sentimental attachment temporarily held up by violations of agreements and pledges?

* * *

Is it not entirely possible that things may reach a point where Petrillo may even leap into the picture and command that every time a man takes a girl friend to dinner in Chicago he pay the check for stand-in sweeties in New York, Boston and St. Louis.

* * *

As the poet might say:—

Susie's love life started well,
Her boy friend seemed okay;
He talked of matrimony on
A fairly early day;
Their courtship was most colorful,
Their romance sweet and cute;
They often struck but found a way
To settle each dispute.

For years they went together bent
On marriage, it appeared;
They often planned the wedding but
Their walkouts interfered;
They once got near the altar but
They parted there instead;
"This case is jurisdictional,"
Some outside party said!

"Oh, wed me and no more fooling,"
Once she cried with fervor fine,
"And we'll raise some little pickets
So no one will cross our line."

"Oh, I'd like to," he said warmly,
"But there is a catch, you know:
You're a Federation lady;
I am strictly CIO!"

Don't Tell 'Em

By Truman Twill

After all this time it's still a toss-up between telling the other person about the egg on his chin and passing the buck to someone else, who may or may not notice it.

Millions are in this same quandary—whether to tell the lady she has a wisp of shredded coconut waggling on her chin like a goat's whiskers or wait for the law of gravity to make it fall in her lap.

If gravity takes care of it, the lady will be spared the embarrassment of knowing she looked ridiculous. But if gravity doesn't take care of it and someone else mentions it, she will realize you didn't mention it—and she will hate you to pieces. Hence the quandary.

Take a smudge of dirt on the face. What is the best course to follow—announce it is there and be the bearer of bad tidings, or pretend not to notice it and let the victim be looked at pityingly by a dozen others who will wonder why no one has broken the news?

There is the same perplexity about notice buttons that should be buttoned but aren't, papers that should be zipped but aren't—runs in stocking seams that are crooked, neckties with gravy spilled on them, light-colored dresses marred by contact with dirty objects, light-colored suits, and wads of gum on shoe soles.

Is it better to blurt out the fact that all is not well, or wait for nature to take its course? In the latter event, the victim can say to himself, "I wonder how many people noticed that and said nothing." Or he can say to himself, "To hell of all the so-and-so's who noticed that and didn't say anything." It all depends on the victim.

This is the way it should be. Let the fellow who eats roasting ears and gets kernels of corn on his chin keep them there. He's happy—and it may make others happy to know he has been well fed and has the left-overs to prove it.

If the lady's zipper has been neglected, especially if she's a fat lady, better let well enough alone. Chances are she couldn't zip it any more. And if the gentleman's vest is buttoned crooked, he's more comfortable that way.

A little gum on the shoe sole, a smear of mud or soot on the cheek, a fragment of wate[illegible] in the ear, a dead moth in the hair, a splash of gravy on the cravat, a little soup spilled in the lap—these are only minor aberrations—and in many cases will be found not to be aberrations at all but the usual thing. Chances are if the lady has a wisp of bread in the cleft of her chin and the gentleman obviously has been eating eggs, they'll both turn up with the same evidences of carelessness, or worse, tomorrow.

In Plain Words

By James Marlow

WASHINGTON

TALK, talk, talk, to people outside Washington the talk here must seem endless, particularly in congress.

It's part of the price we pay for democracy: The talks, the checks, the balances so this side and the other can have their say and maybe their way

You can't find a better example than the stop gap aid for Europe. Talk about it has been going on for weeks. It's not nearly finished. Take a look.

Weeks ago the government said France, Italy and Austria need about $597,000,000 (million) to tide them over from late December through next March.

MARLOW

President Truman thought the help so badly needed he called congress back into session to vote the money.

Various committees in congress, the ones which have to consider such help, were busy.

The house foreign affairs committee held hearings from Nov. 10 through Nov 25 to hear what top government officials had to say about this aid

The senate foreign relations committee held five days of hearings on the same subject to hear the same officials

The two committees then published, for all congressmen, a record of what was said. The house committee booklet, 359 pages The senate s 272 pages.

Meanwhile, a special house committee was digging into the subject. This was the select committee on foreign aid It has 19 members

This committee spent six weeks in Europe, getting information first hand on what Europe needs from us

It returned and so far has published 11 separate studies on European needs.

YOU MIGHT THINK THAT, with all this information, the full house and senate could sail right through and vote how much congress wanted to spend Not so

And, because it's not so, this is where the going may get a little confusing for some one outside Washington

That's because, when it comes to spending money in a case like this, congress votes on two separate bills:

1. This is merely an "authorization" bill It votes on this first. It means only that congress is approving so much money to spend

2. But then it has to vote on an "appropriation" bill This is where it votes on precisely how much money shall be spent, and how.

Here's how it works

The bill to vote $597,000,000 aid for France, Italy and Austria came up in the senate last week This was the "authorization" bill.

After several days of debate the senate, on Monday, okayed the spending of that much money.

This week a similar bill—to authorize the spending of $590,000,000 for France, Italy, Austria and China, comes up in the house for debate.

AFTER SEVERAL DAYS of debate the house, by next Monday or Tuesday, will vote on this "authorization" bill Just to say it also votes for $597,000,000, as the senate did and decides to let China wait.

Does that end it? Does that mean France, Italy and Austria get the money? No Why?

Because now the house appropriations committee — in spite of all the hearings held so far—will hold hearings of its own.

After several days of hearings the committee will draw up an "appropriation" bill.

This committee may decide that $597,000,000 is too much to spend It may recommend to the house that, say, only $400,000,000 be given.

Then this recommendation—called an "appropriation" bill—will go up to the house which already has authorized spending $597,000,000.

It will say how much money should go to each country

Some of the house members who already had voted for spending $597,000,000 may change and vote for the lower figure recommended by the committee.

(The house members, of course, can amend the committee bill on the floor and raise or lower the amount the committee recommends).

Anyway, there'll be more talk and more voting until the majority of the house votes for spending $597,000,000, or more, or less.

THEN, WHEN THE HOUSE votes, the senate appropriations committee will hold hearings, listen to witnesses.

It may decide that the appropriation bill which the house finally has approved is too much or too little and want to change it.

So the senate appropriations committee will send up to the full senate its own recommendations on how much should be spent on France, Italy and Austria.

The senate will consider the appropriation bill, as approved by the house, and the appropriation bill recommended by its own appropriations committee

Then the senate, after debate, will vote on how much actually to spend on France, Italy and Austria

But suppose the house and senate, in their final votes, don't agree on the amount to be spent?

In that case house and senate will appoint a special committee of both houses, called a conference committee, to iron out the difference

When this conference committee finally agrees on a certain sum to spend, both houses then will vote whether to accept the compromise and send it to the President for his signature

SCENES leading up to the familiar story of the manger in Bethlehem were portrayed by Miss Ardis Alling in her presentation of "The Nativity," last evening at Hotel Harding. The program was the second in the fall and winter series sponsored by the Marion County Federation of Women's Clubs for the members and patron members. A capacity audience attended the program given in the ballroom.

Providing a musical setting for the story were Mrs. John F. Lacey, pianist, Mrs. A. O. Linscott, violinist, and Irey Halt, cellist. Completing the musical program was a piano duo, a fantasia of Christmas music, by Mrs. O. D. Anderson and Mrs. H. T. Williams.

In addition to the story of the Nativity, Miss Alling presented the story of Ruth and Naomi and The Other Shepherd, a pastoral dramatization, climaxing the presentation with the scene at Bethlehem. Miss Alling made two trips to the Holy Land to study the people and customs and while there purchased the colorful costumes worn throughout the evening. The story, combined with the artist's insight and beauty of diction, was a delight and inspiration to the large audience.

Mrs. Fillmore Young, program chairman, presented the guest speaker.

MISS MARY GORENFLO, a bride-elect of Sunday, Dec. 7, was honored when Mrs. John Moloney entertained with a shower Monday evening at her home at 204 Silver street. Miss Gorenflo, upon arriving, was presented a miniature corsage of small bells. The evening was spent socially and games were played. Lunch was served at a table centered with a parasol decorated with bells and ribbons in Miss Gorenflo's chosen colors of American Beauty and aqua. Lighted tapers completed the decorations. The hostess was assisted in serving by Mrs. Floyd Sheehe.

U. S. Eats More Meat Despite Call for Tuesday Abstinence

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Dec. 3—Americans are eating more meat now than they were two months ago when the government called upon them to eat less by observing meatless Tuesday.

This does not necessarily mean, however, that the meatless day campaign is failing to achieve its principal objective—a reduction in the feeding of grain to livestock so that more cereals might be made available for shipment abroad.

This is the season of the year when livestock marketing normally increases and when meat production goes up. It also is the season of the year when appetites for meat tend to grow sharper because of colder weather.

Meat production by federally-inspected slaughters was running less than 300,000,000 pounds a week when the meatless Tuesday campaign was started. Now it is averaging more than 400,000,000 pounds and probably will go higher before the month is out.

Some Goes Into Storage

The bulk of this increase is moving directly into consumption. As is the case normally, some of the season an increase is going into cold storage for sale later when supplies will be down.

Some of the current season's increase in meat production reflects earlier market of livestock, particularly hogs, than has been the case in the past few years. In other words, a lot of hogs which under conditions of the past few years would have been kept on farms for further fattening are coming to market now.

Evidence of this is contained in agriculture department reports that market supplies of hogs are running about eight pounds lighter than the 240 pounds average a year ago.

Likewise, some of the current increase in meat production is resulting from the fact that some calves and semi-fattened cattle which would normally have been kept on feed lot longer are also being sold for slaughter now instead.

What are the differences in the conditions now and the past few years which are influencing these changes on livestock feeding and fattening?

The answer is to be found in the factors which led the government to call for lower meat consumption, including: (1) a much shorter supply of feed grains, due to the small corn crop; (2) the high price of feed grains and (3) farmer uncertainty as to future livestock and meat prices.

Undoubtedly one of the things contributing to this uncertainty has been the meatless Tuesday campaign.

JURY AT COLUMBUS INDICTS MARIONITE

Ober who was among 32 persons on which 26 indictments were returned by the grand jury, will be arraigned Dec. 11 before Criminal Judge Myron B. Gessaman.

A temporary restraining order was issued by Judge Clarence U. Ahl Nov. 24 when Petri filed his taxpayers' suit to restrain the City of Galion, Mayor William Amann, City Auditor Gloyd Frye, and Service Director K. A. Poister, from consummating the purchase of a diesel generating unit for the Galion Municipal Light and Power plant, paying any more on the diesel, or accepting the diesel if it should arrive in Galion.

Meanwhile, the board of control, composed of the mayor and service director, have held up their decision on which of two bids to accept for power from an outside utility to supplement the electrical energy generated by the Galion plant, until after the hearing on the injunction.

BOARD WITHHOLDING VOTE COUNT ACTION

Special to The Star

GALION, Dec. 3—The Crawford county board of elections announced it is studying evidence given at a hearing in the court house at Bucyrus Monday night by six election judges of Precinct 3-A in Galion before issuing a statement on whether action will be taken on the error in vote count that changed the results of the Nov. 4 election following a recount.

Board members have been sworn to secrecy until such time as a carefully worded statement under consideration by the board is issued. The statement is expected to be released Thursday.

Evidence given at the hearing was taken by the court stenographer who has transcribed the notes for presentation to the election board for further study before a statement is made.

Crawford county Prosecutor Leo J. Scanlon was present at the hearing as legal counsel for the board of elections. A copy of the report made by the election board will be forwarded to the secretary of state at Columbus, it was said.

The hearing was ordered after a recount disclosed a 96 vote error in the Third ward, all but one of the votes being in 3-A. Richard L. Ganshorn had been reelected councilman by a 7 vote majority until the recount showed his opponent John A. Anker had received an 89 vote majority.

Election Board members are A. H. Weis, New Washington, chairman; Bert Wilson, Galion; H. S. Siegel, Bucyrus and Morris Knisley of North Robinson.

4 MINOR MISHAPS REPORTED IN CITY

Traffic Accidents Listed in Police Records.

Four minor traffic accidents occurred in Marion yesterday, city police report.

A car driven by Cloyse H. Ault, 30, of near Edison, was damaged in the right front when it hit a power pole on Mt. Vernon avenue as Ault, northbound on Mt. Vernon, swerved to the right to avoid hitting a pedestrian, at 10:50 a. m. yesterday. Police report that the pedestrian, Harry Whitenack of 580 Mt. Vernon, had come out of the first alley north of Forest and had walked into the line of traffic into the path of the car. The power pole was slightly damaged.

Howard E. Clement, 34, of Ashland, opened the door of his parked car into the side of a passing automobile at 3:28 p. m. yesterday, damaging the door. Clement was parked on South Main street as a car driven by Rev. L. Sutherland, 57, of 440 East Mark street, drove past. Sutherland's car was slightly damaged.

Cars driven by Mrs. Lula M. Moore, 60, of 1040 East Church street, and Marion Lester Cox, 21, of 209 Plymouth street, collided at 9:42 p. m. yesterday damaging both vehicles. According to the police report, the Moore car, going south on Prospect, made a right turn in front of the Cox car and caught its front bumper.

Richard E. Umbaugh, 16, of 256 Summit street, swerved his motor bike to avoid a collision with a car on East Church street at 4:17 p. m. yesterday and ran into a tree, damaging the front end of the bike. The car, driven by Mrs. Twila Elva Bryant, 51, of near Nevada, had started to make a left turn from Church to Greenwood as a traffic light changed, and the bicycle started to pass it, but swerved to avoid a collision.

DULLES

a hurried visit to Paris. He knew of Dulles' plans before conferring yesterday with high French officials. Bidault presumably had cleared the way for the American delegate.

It has not been decided yet whether Dulles would see Gen. Charles De Gaulle, whose new rally of the French people gained impressive victories in the fall municipal elections. (Socialists in the French government have called De Gaulle a menace.)

Some members of the American delegation expressed the opinion that at this stage the London conference — which has been marked by long and sometimes sharp debate—has demonstrated only two things:

(1) The inability of Russia and the western powers to discover any basis for a compromise on the future of Germany at this time.

(2) The determination of Soviet Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov to use the meeting as a forum for political appeals to the German people.

Admit Molotov Achievement

The Americans privately admit that Molotov has been very successful in this, with his insistence that the Soviet union alone is striving to obtain an early peace and build a Democratic Germany.

Molotov, Secretary of State Marshall, British Foreign Secretary Ernest Bevin and French Deputy Foreign Minister Maurice Couve of Murville virtually completed their discussion of the German peace treaty problems last night.

British informants predicted they would wind up this phase today and probably then take up the proposed treaty for Austrian independence, on which a deadlock also exists.

FIRE BURNS FARM HOUSE NEAR ASHLEY

One of Two Blazes in Town and Vicinity.

Special to The Star

ASHLEY, Dec. 3 — Two fires here and nearby shortly after midnight last night destroyed a farm home and outbuildings and did considerable damage to a garage owned by an Ashley resident.

The farm home occupied by William Votaw and family six miles southeast of here, and a number of other buildings, with the exception of the barn, were destroyed while the family was spending the night with Mr. Votaw's parents near New Lexington.

The Ashley fire department received a call to the Votaw farm while they were fighting a blaze in the garage at the Russell Nolting home here. Believed to have started from a stove used by Mr. Nolting while working in the garage yesterday, the blaze damaged several screen doors and shutters stored in the building, broke windows and scorched the wall between the garage and adjoining residence. The loss, which has not been estimated, is covered by insurance. The blaze was discovered by Mr. Nolting who wakened and saw smoke pouring from the garage.

Neighbors of the Votaw family reported the blaze seemed to burst all at once and the metal roof came off in one piece and was carried into the road. The fire had gained such headway that neighbors were unable to do anything but prevent it spreading to the barn. The blaze was discovered by Mrs. Charles Fleming a neighbor. Stacy Kannaird and Erwin Bunker, neighbors, remained at the farm the rest of the night to protect the barn.

The farm is owned by a Columbus resident. The Votaw family could not be reached to learn the extent of the loss.

2 MORE HOLLYWOOD WRITERS ARE FIRED

By The Associated Press

HOLLYWOOD, Dec. 3 — Two more Hollywood personalities were out of a job today as movie management and talent unions prepared to tackle the Communism problem across the conference table tonight.

Writers Dalton Trumbo and Lester Cole were fired by Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer studios, as of yesterday. They are among the 10 cited for contempt of congress after refusing to tell the house un-American activities committee whether they are or were Communists.

The dismissals were in line with an industry policy enunciated by Eric Johnston, president of the Motion Picture Producers association, after a recent New York meeting.

Tonight's meeting was called by Louis B. Mayer, chairman of a producers committee established after the New York conferences. Directors of the Screen Writers Guild, Screen Directors Guild and the Screen Actors Guild were invited to attend.

In Chicago yesterday Actor Humphrey Bogart told a news conference he "detests Communism" and said that his trip to Washington to protest the house un-American activities committee hearing "was ill-advised, even foolish."

"At the time it seemed the thing to do," he told newsmen.

Bogart also issued a statement declaring he is not a Communist or a Communist sympathizer.

Guests were these candidates for the annual ceremonial to be held by Aladdin Temple in Columbus, Harold Bracy, Dr. H. Raymond Finney, Earl T. Smart, Carl Zeis, John Caldwell Sr., Chester McCoy and Bruce Tibbals.

The dinner was served at 6:30 p. m. by the women of the White Shrine. Club committee in charge of arrangements included Leonard Young, Dr. O. M. Young, Clarence Price, Ralph Williamson, Paul Bachman and Tom Cathers.

John Seklnger is president of the painters' union.

SEE LONG BATTLE ON MARSHALL PLAN

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Dec. 3 — A number of Ohio congressmen said today they expect a long, hard fight before any long range program such as the Marshall plan is approved for European aid.

They generally agreed, though Rep. Brehm (R) expressed opposition, that interim aid legislation will be approved this month.

Rep. Clarence J. Brown, Republican member of the house rules committee, which funnels legislation to the house for action, wrote in the Ohio Republican News recently:

"Undoubtedly a reasonable amount of interim aid for Europe —mostly food, clothing and medical supplies—will be approved by the congress.

"But the over-all four-year Marshall plan, costing between $15,000,000,000 (billion) and $20,000,000,000, will not be voted any time soon, if at all."

Some Ohio congressmen available to a reporter said they would vote for stop-gap aid. Rep. Brehm, however, said he "didn't think" he would approve even this "because I have no confidence in those who would administer the program."

Rep. McGregor said "I don't expect it will be voted on until a definite program is formulateed. I'm opposed to the Marshall plan as it now exists. I'm tired of the state department under the guise of 'emergency' telling us what to do."

Brehm said: "The Marshall plan is 'out' so far as I'm concerned. I wouldn't even consider it. It's too assinine for words. I don't think there's any chance of it ever coming up for action."

Inspection Ceremony Held by D. of A. Council

Annual inspection of Paramount Council No. 37, Daughters of America, was held at a meeting Tuesday night in the I.O.O.F. hall. Mrs. Essie Thompson of Marion, district deputy of District 4, was inspecting officer. The ritual was exemplified and one candidate was initiated. Mrs. Mary Collins, councilor, was in charge of the meeting.

Election of officers was held and installation will be conducted at the first meeting in January. Plans were announced for a district past councilors association meeting of District 4 to be held in Marion Saturday at the Democratic hall with Mary A. Canfield Council as hostess for the affair. About 75 persons are expected to attend. The next meeting will be a quarterly birthday dinner at 6 o'clock which will include a Christmas gift exchange and a Christmas program.

By The Associated Press

Love's Perilous Path

By ADELE GARRISON

OLINA was patently confused at the question Mary just had shot at her.

"Why!" she said. "Of course, Georges hasn't had any chance to talk to me about the wedding plans. But," she rallied, "he said in his letter to me, to go ahead with whatever I wanted to do. So of course everything will be all right. And I know he'd love to have Noel, as best man, if Noel will consent."

"I wonder," Mary said thoughtfully, and Olina swallowed hard.

"You mean," she said, changing an "undertone" to an "overtone," "that he wouldn't want your husband to stand next to him in Pietro's place?"

On the instant, Mary put on a fine show of indignation.

"Will you tell me 'Lina?" she cried, "what in the hinges of the hot place, Noel's being my husband has to do with the price of scrambled eggs?"

"I'm afraid I don't understand," Olina said, and I saw the tip of her tongue moistening her lips.

"It's very simple," Mary explained. "I'll bet Georges doesn't even remember that Noel is married to me. But—he has a most vivid remembrance that once you and Noel were engaged to be married."

"So were you and Georges," Olina said.

"Yes," Mary drawled, I knew with purposeful indifference, "but that little item isn't troubling Georges any. I doubt if he's thought about it for yars and yars. But, if you had the sense of a bunny rabbit, 'Lina, you'd have realized long ago that Georges is so jealous of Noel because he was once engaged to you, that he goes around biting holes in the atmosphere."

Olina's face was suddenly illumined, I knew as much from Mary's disclaimer that Georges was even remotely interested in Noel's being her husband, as from the information that Georges was jealous of Noel because of his old betrothal to Olina.

"You don't mean that, Mary!" she said, but in the manner of one who wishes to be contradicted.

"I certainly do mean it," Mary said, "and because of that, I don't think you should say anything to Noel about being best man. After all, there's no need of an advance notice. When we all get out there, it will be time to tell Georges that I am to be your matron-of-honor."

She turned to me with a gamin grin.

"You won't let drop any hint to Georges on that subject, will you, Auntie Madge?"

"No, indeed," I said with emphasis, and added silently with equal emphasis: "Nor on any other."

"I thought not," Mary said, and I knew she had read my silent utterance. "So you see, Olina, you just can let it lie on the well-worn laps of the well-known gods. If I were in your place, I wouldn't mention Noel's name. I'd just tell him about me, and then ask him sort of wide-eyed: 'And who is going to be your best man. As he'll have to select one from Grandpa Spencer, Uncle Dicky, Noel, your stepfather, the Tiger man, and Mr. 'K', the FBI man, I'll lay a little wager, he'll pick Noel."

"If he didn't," Olina said with just a touch of hauteur, "he'd be guilty of churlishness, and I can't imagine Georges—"

"Nor can the rest of us," Mary interrupted, "so don't borrow any more trouble on that account."

"And Noel won't be offended because you were asked first?" Olina queried.

"If he is," Mary said ,"I'll pin his ears back so far and so tightly, he won't get them unskewered in time for the wedding. But don't you worry. He won't know or think a thing about it, and don't you open your mouth to Noel until we get out to Sag Harbor. As far as he'll ever know, if you don't spill the beans, you didn't ask me until we arrived there. You can untwist that sentence at your leisure."

Olina gave a relieved little laugh.

"You always smooth things out so delightfully, Mary darling," she said, and Mary blew her a kiss as Olina rose.

"I must be getting back," she said, "and I suppose there must be no hint to Faith of her being a flower girl."

"Heavens no!" I exclaimed. "No hint to Faith about anything. She's not to know anything until we're all ready to get into the cars for the farm, and even then, she's to think a house party is all that's in the wind. There's to be no hint of a wedding."

RUB ON VICKS VAPORUB

Roving Reports

By Hal Boyle

NEW YORK

MY wife is mad at Santa Claus.

He's never brought her a fur coat, and she's beginning to think he never will.

A few weeks before Christmas, the year we were married, I looked in Frances' eyes and saw mirrored there a strange fuzzy image.

At first I glanced back thinking a bear was behind me, but I learned after consulting other husbands that what I had glimpsed in her eyes was merely the well-known "fur coat look."

BOYLE

It is a kind of affliction that gets in the eyes of most wives about the time cold weather comes on.

Since then I have noted it in Frances every winter about this time. She will be talking along about how times are getting pretty good now, and then all of a sudden that queer "fur coat look" will come over her face.

Just before that first Christmas ten years ago, I asked her what she wanted Santa Claus to bring her and she said:

"A fur coat."

"But you've got a fur coat," I objected.

"Oh, that old thing," she said. "I've had that for years."

CHRISTMAS MORNING she went over to the tree to try on her new fur coat, and—what do you think? There wasn't anything there but some perfume.

"Santa Claus must have had a tough year," I consoled her.

So she whacked down her old fur coat to a jacket. The next year Santa left her a new wing chair instead of a fur coat.

"You'll have to wear the old one another year," I said.

"If I do I'll have to wear it as a veil," she said. "You should see what the moths have done to it."

Each year after that she got the old familiar "fur coat look" in her eyes. And each time Kris Klingle got mixed up in his deliveries. One year he'd bring a new rug, and another year a new sofa. But somehow he never managed to crawl down the chimney with that fur coat.

"He must not have the money," I told Frances. "You wouldn't want him to skin one of his reindeer, would you?"

"Why not?" asked this practical woman.

I asked her just why a fur coat was so important. She said I never would understand. But I got the idea that somehow a fur coat to a woman is a symbol of what everybody wants in life. When she puts it on, no matter how commonplace may be her everyday existence, she has a feeling of warm security and the fur coat becomes a soft luxurious armor for a few hours against ordinary economic cares.

"IN THAT CASE why isn't a mink or a chinchilla the happiest animal in the world?" I asked. "They're born into a fur coat."

"I knew you wouldn't understand," said Frances.

She has that "fur coat look" in her eyes again now. When I inquired if she was going to hang her stocking on the mantel this year, she said:

"No, I'm going to put up a coat hanger."

And I have the uneasy feeling that if there is another mistake—well, she's likely to start blaming somebody besides Santa Claus.

Dedicate Parsonage At Galion E.U.B. Church

Special to The Star

GALION, Dec. 3—Rev. V. H. Allman, D. D., superintendent of the Sandusky conference of the Evangelical United Brethren church, delivered the message, Sunday morning, when the new parsonage of the First Evangelical United Brethren church was dedicated. The address was given at the East school where the congregation has been meeting since the church and parsonage were destroyed by fire a year ago.

After the morning worship hour, the congregation went to the parsonage a 742 Cherry street for the remainder of the service. R. L. Post, president of the board of trustees of the local church, presented the key of the parsonage to the conference superintendent who in turn read the dedicatory charge to the trustees and the congregation. After the dedicatory prayer by Mr. Post, he presented the key to the pastor, Rev. Paul C. Walter.

In the spring the congregation will break ground on a site just west of the parsonage at the corner of the South State road and Cherry street for the construction of a new church edifice.

Wesleyan Service Guild Meets at Country Cottage

The Wesleyan Service Guild of Prospect Street Methodist church held a Christmas party Tuesday night at the Country Cottage, south of Marion, at which time officers were elected for the new year.

Group singing of Christmas carols opened the meeting and 29 members responded to roll call. The nominating committee gave a report and the following officers were elected: Mrs. Carroll Schmidt, president; Miss Marian Gooding, vice president; Miss Frances Haas, secretary; Mrs Bernard Brooks, treasurer; and Mrs. John Boyd, corresponding secretary. Installation will be held at the next meeting.

Reports were made of proceeds from a recent rummage sale and also from a sale of cosmetics. An announcement was made that 22 dresses for little girls had been completed by the Guild members and sent to the Children's Home at Worthington.

Plans were made for the Guild to join with the church in a New Years Eve watch night service and it was decided that the members serve refreshments. Named on the committee in charge of arrangements were Mrs. Roland Schaber, chairman, Mrs. Joe Mehaffey and Mrs. Earl Mehaffey.

During the social hour, secret sisters were revealed in a gift exchange and names were drawn for next year. Prizes in games were won by Mrs. Carroll Starner, Mrs. Brooks, Miss Joan Schertzer, Mrs. Mildred Diehl, Mrs. Kenneth Connolly, Mrs Boyd and Mrs. Adeline Heeld. Refreshments were served at tables centered with a red candle in a crystal holder surrounded with evergreen sprigs.

Although about one-fifth of U. S. people live on farms, it was estimated that in the 1947 boom season they received only one-ninth of the U. S. income.

MIDWEST GRIDDERS DOMINATE 1947 AP ALL AMERICA

Undefeated Irish and Michigan Place 4 Men on First 3 Teams

By FRANK ECK
AP Newsfeatures Sports Editor

NEW YORK, Dec. 3.—The midwest, boasting the nation's two top ranking teams in undefeated and untied Notre Dame and Michigan, carried off honors on the 23rd Associated Press All-America football team by filling three of the four all-important backfield positions.

Johnny Lujack, brilliant 180-pound quarterback who is pacing Notre Dame to its second straight unbeaten campaign; Michigan's equally versatile Bob Chappuis, and Ray Evans, key man in the Kansas attack, are the midwesterners on the first team backfield. All are seniors.

To round out the backfield of fine passers and hard runners the southwest has come up with this year's only sophomore All-America in Doak Walker, forward passing wizard from Southern Methodist university.

The line dominated by six-footers weighing between 195 and 230 pounds, finds the East with three positions—center Charles Bednarik of Pennsylvania, end Bill Swiacki of Columbia and guard Steve Suhey of unbeaten and untied Penn State.

The remaining four men on the forward wall are: end Paul Cleary of Southern California, guard Bill Fischer of Notre Dame, tackle Richard Harris of Texas and tackle Bob Davis of Georgia Tech.

Though purely a mythical team the 11 men chosen after a careful survey by 250 sports writers throughout the country is a veteran collection of athletes. They have started week after week during one of the most interesting football seasons on record.

Lujack Most Unusual

Without a doubt the most unusual player on the team is Lujack of Notre Dame. Although his gridiron career at South Bend started in 1943 this is his third and last season with the Irish. He was in the Navy 35 months, 11 of them on a sub-chaser. However, in three season with the Fighting Irish his team never has lost to a college opponent.

He comes from Connellsville, Pa., and is the only All-America to repeat this season.

Chappuis paced Michigan to the Western Conference championship, breaking his own Big Nine ground gaining record of 1946 by gaining 1,395 yards as compared with 1,265 last year. The Toledo, O., halfback is the one player Southern California will be out to stop when the Pacific Coast titleholders face the Wolverines in the Rose Bowl on New Year's day.

Michigan's neurate pass pitcher completed 48 out of 84 passes for 976 yards, including 11 touchdown aerials. He also scored five touchdowns and gained 544 yards more than his closest Big Nine rival in overall yardage.

In Walker, Coach Matty Bell of Southern Methodist believes he has the "greatest sophomore the Southwest conference ever saw." Walker has been in two branches of the service. He was in the Merchant Marine in 1945, but out in time to play four games with SMU as a freshman then went into the Army in 1946.

First From Kansas

Evans is the first All-America ever to come from the University of Kansas. His coach, George Sauer, calls the Kansas City, Kas., product "the greatest back I've ever seen."

Besides Lujack and Fischer on the first team, Notre Dame placed Ziggy Czarobski on the second team and Tackle George Connor on the third eleven. Four Michigan players also made the 33-man squad. Besides Chappuis, two Wolverines—End Bob Mann and Back Chalmers Elliott—were chosen for the second team while End Lenny Ford made the third team.

Though the Columbia Lions lost two of their nine games to Eastern opponents, their circus-catching end, Bill Swiacki, drew a lot of support. In receiving 31 passes for 517 yards he set an alltime Columbia record and was the big gun in the 21-20 upset of Army. Swiacki made four touchdowns all season but figured in many more with his diving catches which often left sports writers at a loss for proper adjectives.

Best Flanker

Paul Cleary, Southern California's end, is regarded as the best all around flanker in the Pacific Coast conference.

The All-America tackles, Bobby Davis of Georgia Tech and Dick Harris of Texas, gave a splendid account of themselves all season. Davis was the bulwark in an Engineer line that yielded but one touchdown in its first five games.

While it is difficult for the average football fan to take especial notice of the line play around center and guard it was easy for Notre Dame rivals to notice how Bill Fischer, a 230-pound Chicagoan, turned back many opposing thrusts from his guard position.

Steve Suhey, Penn State's great guard, provided a glowing proof that servicemen, after shaking off their war legs, could come back.

Chuck Bednarik, 220-pound center, was the key man in Pennsylvania's line.

A 60-minute player in the 7-7 tie with Army, Bednarik proved an alert tackler. In the first six games he played he intercepted four passes.

Close Race

The Associated Press 1947 All-America is a team that probably will furnish food for lengthy discussions long into the winter because of the plethora of brilliant backs and linemen on the second and third teams. In some cases there was little to chose from between the first three elevens.

Such backs as Charley Conerly of Mississippi, who had set a new collegiate record for pass completions even before Ol' Miss completed its season; Bump Elliott of Michigan, Harry Gilmer of Alabama and Charley Justice of North Carolina were placed on the second team. The third backfield included Clyde (Smackover) Scott, ex-Navy star with Arkansas, Penn's southpaw passer Tony (Skippy) minisi, Bobby Layne of Texas and Jack Cloud of William and Mary.

Two former All-America linemen, John Ferraco of Southern California, and George Connor of Notre Dame, wound up on the third team while Herman Wedemeyer, St. Mary's wartime choice, placed on the honorable mention list.

CHARLES ON TOP IN NEWS CHARITY BOUT

Shops for Title Fight with Gus Lesnevich.

By The Associated Press

CLEVELAND, O., Dec. 3 — Ezzard Charles, the Cincinnati clouter, was doing his Christmas shopping today, hoping to snare a light heavyweight title bout with champion Gus Lesnevich.

Manager Jake Mintz declared his charge "is as ready as he'll ever be" for such a tussle after the Cincinnati Negro belted out roughhouse Fitzy Fitzpatrick of Los Angeles at the Arena last night.

Fitzpatrick, who is highly regarded on the west coast, looked as if he had made a quick trip through a meat cutter when Referee Jackie Davis stopped the tussle at 1:34 of the fourth round.

The west coast Irishman was dumped on the floor by a terrific right in that round. Charles rushed in to apply the finishing touches as Fitzpatrick struggled up groggily after the count reached five, but Davis intervened before he made another trip to the canvas.

The fight was routed for 12 rounds but the sellout crowd of 13,384 knew it wouldn't go the distance after Charles went to work in the opening heat.

The fight was the 22nd annual Christmas fund show sponsored by the Cleveland News and drew a gross gate of $83,646.

Coast Opposed To Rumored 10-Team Majors; Wants Own Big League Status

By The Associated Press

MIAMI, Fla., Dec. 3—The 10-team major league, which proved a dud once before, may be revived in the National and American leagues in the near future.

The executive council has drawn up preliminary plans for such a revolutionary move with the purpose of admitting four Pacific Coast league teams in the majors, The Associated Press learned from a reliable source last night.

The source added that the teams are Los Angeles, San Francisco, Oakland and Hollywood.

"The executive council, with the approval of the major leagues, had agreed that this is the only logical step," the source continued. "After its visit to California last August, during which time it listened to the demands of the Pacific Coast league, the council studied the matter carefully and decided that it would not be feasible to grant the Coast league's request. It agreed, however, that major league ball was bound to come to the coast some day."

"The council was of the opinion that two of the coast's cities—Los Angeles and San Francisco especially—were prepared for big league baseball," the informant said.

"Hollywood and Oakland were included to give the leagues better balance."

The latest plan, however, faced determined opposition from the Pacific Coast league itself. Clarence Rowland, when informed of the movement afoot, admitted that he had heard of something brewing "along those lines," but insisted that he had never been informed directly of such a plan.

"The Pacific Coast league has only one purpose," he said, "and that is to become a major league in its entirety. We will never consent to have the majors take one, two or four clubs from us."

Rowland was one of 54 minor league presidents who listened yesterday to a speech by National association head George Trautman cautioning them against further expansion.

Trautman said "our main job is not to seek additional leagues but to strengthen all our existing leagues."

GRIDDER NAMED MAYOR

OXFORD, O., Dec. 3—Bill Hoover, captain of Miami university's 1948 Sun Bowl football team, last night was designated "acting mayor for a day" by the village council. The exact date of Hoover's "day" will be announced later.

NOTRE DAME LEAVES FOR SOUTHERN CAL FINALE

By International News Service

SOUTH BEND, Ind., Dec. 3 — The unbeaten Notre Dame football squad was to leave South Bend today on the first leg of the journey that will take the Irish to Los Angeles and Saturday's crucial end-season game against Southern California.

Ace halfback Terry Brennan, his knee still in a cast as a result of injury suffered in the Tulane game, was to accompany the squad, but definitely will not play Saturday. His name is not on the traveling squad roster.

"BATTLE ROYAL FOR THURSDAY"

After the disappointment of last Thursday Promoter Fishbaugh got busy to insure the Marion wrestling fans one of the best Battle Royals ever signed for the armory. Last Thursday's trouble was because of the icy condition of the roads and two of the boys coming in from Detroit had a smash up at Flatrock, Mich. They tried to make it on through to Marion and were unable but from the stars signed for next Thursday the local fans will be sure of an all star program. First of the men will be Billy Rayburn, the boy who won the American Junior Heavy Weight tournament and gold belt and later lost it to Billy Fox; second is the holder of this belt at present, Herb Parks. Herb is also the Canadian Light Heavy Champ and on his first Marion appearance in October won his match in straight falls. Third is the boy who last week did a wonderful job, Bill Murray. Fourth is Bill Weidner, former Mid-West Junior Heavyweight Champ. Weidner has yet to lose a match here. Fifth and last is Capt. Mike Mihalakis, the wild grappler who always adds plenty of color. The prelim starts at 8:30. Call Markert & Lewis Cigar Store for your seats.—Adv.

St. Mary Cagers Defeat Lima St. Gerard In Opener

Irish Win from Previously Unbeaten Five; Schuler Scores 24 Points.

A promising St. Mary basketball team opened the 1947-48 season with a smashing 52-29 win over previously unbeaten Lima St. Gerard in the Ohio Northern gym at Ada last night.

The Irish led throughout the game behind high scoring Dick Schuler, who made 24 points. John Baldauf and Dick Drake each netted 10.

St. Mary opened with two quick baskets and enjoyed a 10-7 first quarter lead. At the halftime the score was doubled and Schuler had sent in 12.

The game became considerably rougher in the second half and three men from each team were ejected on fouls. Bob Stuber and Dan Smith left during the third quarter and Baldauf took a shower in the fourth. Lima lost Guagenti, Fromm and Hunt.

The Irish continued to dominate the game in the last half, being ahead 34-23 at the end of the third quarter, and making 18 points in the last quarter.

St. Mary was fortunate in having capable "Corky" Cusick to relace defensive ace, Bob Stuber, when he fouled out in the third period. Cusick was a reserve last year and shows a lot of promise.

Ed Moloney, another replacement, made a free throw in his first attempt after replacing Baldauf. Ed plays on the reserve squad.

Irish Coach Gene Fetter was fairly satisfied with St. Mary's initial showing but said a great amount of work was still needed.

St. Mary reserves defeated St. Gerard, 23-13, led by Bill Merchant who scored 10 points.

Snatches of Sports

By HUGH FULLERTON, Jr.
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK, Dec. 3—The other day Branch Rickey remarked that he never had seen the baseball player market as "jumpy" as it is now....But reports coming up from the Miami meetings don't support that statement.... Maybe every one is ready to jump at a trade with the Dodgers, who have so much promising minor league material that they may have to stage bargain sales, but among the other clubs it seems to be all talk and little action....

Pat Kennedy, referee-in-chief of the Basketball Association of America, reports he hasn't seen a game this season in which the teams haven't been driving for 45 of the 48 minutes....One of the funniest sights of the football season was a big San Francisco 49'er sitting in front of the fireplace at Bear mountain last week, solemnly chewing bubble gum and blowing huge bubbles.

CLAIR BEE, Long Island U. basketball coach: "My team this year uses Nat Holman's give-and-go system in reverse — the boys don't know where they're going and I don't give a darn."

COLUMBUS PASTOR ROTARY SPEAKER

Dr. Floyd Faust Calls for Higher Moral Standards.

Need for men to have higher moral standards and to take an active interest in public affairs was emphasized by Dr. Floyd Faust, Columbus clergyman, at the weekly luncheon meeting of the Rotary club at Hotel Harding Tuesday.

Dr. Faust has been a minister at the Broad Street Christian church, Columbus, for 18 years. He attended Ohio State university for his advanced degrees.

He said the church and school are two of the most essential things in life, and without them our hope would be gone. Declaring that people should be more interested in fellowship than in ownership, he voiced the feeling that if people have their minds set to get as much out of life as they can, and give as little as they can, they are headed for the rocks.

He closed with the appeal: "Let's do all we can to see to it that this America of ours is 'fit' for freedom."

Guests of the club in addition to the speaker were Rotarian Charles T. Kirk, of Findlay, A. T. Allen, Robert Solinger and Charles F. Parshall, all of Marion, Ray Wheeler and Art Dunham, both of Cleveland, and Edward Miller and Dr. M. J. Mercier, associate of Dr. Faust of Columbus.

The Harding High school reporter for the meeting was Iris Eckels.

WHAT ARE YOU WRITING ON YOUR KITCHEN SLATE?
THE LIST OF GROCERIES I HAVE TO GET AT THE MARKET!
WHY DON'T YOU WRITE THEM ON A SLIP OF PAPER AND THEN TAKE THE PAPER WITH YOU TO THE MARKET?

SEE POSSIBLE TRAIL TO CANCER CAUSES

By HOWARD W. BLAKESLEE
Associated Press Science Editor

BOSTON, Dec. 3—The gamma rays that cure some cancers may also hold the clue to the unknown causes of these malignancies, and the radioactive atoms of the atomic ovens may be the keys to unlock this great disease mystery.

This was predicted to the Radiological Society of North America by Dr. Paul C. Abersold, of the atomic energy commission, Oak Ridge, Tenn., in telling the x-ray experts of important new tools to come to them from atomic sources.

X-rays in excess, and also the gamma rays of radium, are known to cause cancer, even though they also cure when given in correct doses. Both these, and other equally useful radioactive rays, come from the atomic oven radioactive atoms.

These atoms, Dr. Abersold said, can be used as tracers to explore everything in cancer metabolism. And, he added, it is reasonable to expect that the tracer atoms will give information on the start and the cause of cancers as well as how they are cured.

This fine dividing line between cancer and healthy tissue was illustrated to the radiologists by their own hands in an exhibit by Margaret Dixon, Argonne National Laboratory, Chicago, one of the atomic energy commissions great atomic centers.

Nearly half the doctors who use X-rays and radium for medical treatment, she reported, suffer changes in their finger tips. The ridges which make fingerprints become altered, being either too thick or too thin, if this goes far enough, skin cancers develop on finger tips.
